TYPICAL Post-Op SYMPTOMS: You may notice...

Blurry or Hazy Vision for the first several days, but blurry vision may last for a couple weeks.

ACTIVITIES TO AVOID:

Avoid Lifting/Pushing anything that causes you to STRAIN for at least 1 (one) week
Avoid Bending/stooping/head positions that causes a “pressure” feeling in your head for 1 (one) week
Avoid dusty/dirty environments - wear protective eye wear if you must be around dust/dirt
No eye make-up for at least 1 week (being careful not to rub eye when removing make-up for 4 weeks)

PRECAUTIONS:

Wear Eye Shield at bedtime for 1 (one) week
Take a shower or bath, but cautiously wash your eyelids — no splashing
Wear sunglasses if light sensitive

APPROVED ACTIVITIES: You may...

Sleep on either side, but use the eye shield for the first week after surgery
Watch TV, read, or work on computer, etc
Perform most household activities, but minimize “STRAINING” for 1 week
Participate in most exercise routines, except avoid straining to lift/bend for 1 week

EYEGASSES:

Most, not everyone’s, eyeglass prescription changes after cataract surgery.
Patients may have trouble deciding whether they see better with their old glasses or not, especially between your first and second eye. Some will see better without glasses. Some see better using old glasses. A few (very few) patients will prefer to remove one lens. Try each option to determine which method allows you to function best. YOU WILL NOT STRAIN OR HARM EITHER EYE DURING THIS PERIOD.
Many people can function well with Over-the-Counter “Drugstore” readers during this healing period.
Start with +2.50 READERS and vary the power up or down to find the one best for you.
